Dear Otis:

Thank you for your letter of 29 April inviting me to address your symposium on "Psychophysiological Aspects of Space Flight" on 26-27 May. The program certainly sounds stimulating, and I wish you every success. As you know, members of our staff are following this subject closely.

Unfortunately, my duties here demand that public speaking engagements be kept to a minimum, and I regret that I shall not be able to participate personally.

A visit to San Antonio is overdue by my books, and I hope we can get together soon.

Best regards,

Sincerely,

C. P. Cabell

Dear General Cabell

I hope I can persuade you to accept my invitation to address a banquet assembly of physicians and scientists on the evening of 26 May at the Hilton Hotel in San Antonio. We expect over three hundred of the nation's foremost psychiatrists, physiologists, neurologists and psychologists to attend our forthcoming unclassified symposium "Psychophysiological Aspects of Space Flight" to be held here on 26 and 27 May.

I thought of you because I have the feeling that the foremost experimental psychiatrists and medically-oriented experimental psychologists will be discussing material of interest to you -- sensory deprivation, isolation, drug-induced hibernation and related topics. In turn, these professional men would be interested in anything you had to say along the lines of the needs of intelligence for data on human responses to psychological stress. I hope there are areas of mutual interest that you could openly depict.

Your talk could be "off the record" or "open" at your discretion. We shall have the press at the symposium but we can keep them away from you.

I hope you will accept and I'm sure you are due for a visit to San Antonio.

With warm personal regards, I am,

Sincerely

OTIS O. BENSON, JR.
